TORNADO TORN.

Louisville Suffers a Dire Calamity.

Ninety-four Persons Killed and 100s Wounded.

KILLINGS OF PROPERTY DESTROYED.

At 5 o'clock Thursday night, Louisville was stricken by one of the direst catastrophes from which any section of the country ever suffered. A mighty tornado, with a velocity and violence in calculable, struck the city at its south-western limits and tore across the West End in a southeasterly direction plunging an appalling path of desolation and death. Square after square of residences and business houses, says the Courier-Journal, was wrenched from their foundations and scattered like chaff and miles of territory, which but yesterday were populous with houses and pulsing with trade, are today blasted wastes of ruin.

From 18th and Maple streets, diagonally across the city, crushing dwellings and business blocks like egg shells, toppling down church steeples and wending warehouses to fragments, the dread visitant passed the river front, leaving to mark the boundaries of ruin, a broad swath of wreckage and dead and mangled humanity heaped and weighted down or burning in the agonized delirium. This belt of destruction extended from the west side of 9th street as far as 9th on Main, and an equal width across to the point where the city was first touched.

At Falls City Hall a lodge of Knights and Ladies of Honor was in session, two-thirds of the attendants being women while in the same building was a dancing school of perhaps 75 children. The building was dashed down like a house of cards, burying in the debris 200 souls, most of whom were either crushed or suffocated to death.

Main street below 6th suffered more severely than any other business section, the large wholesale establishments and tobacco warehouses being shattered like tinder. In one store on this street six girls and two men were buried. The Union depot was totally destroyed.

Churches were demolished and several Sisters were killed. Rev. Stephen E. Barnwell, rector of St. John's Episcopal church, is among the dead.

Added to this terrible disaster, the city is confronted with the certainty of a water famine, as the water works were also wrecked by the storm.

So far as the loss of property is concerned, it cannot be estimated. Millions of dollars were swept away in one instant and the loss is a complete one. Of course those who were fully insured must have had no protection against storms, and many are ruined by the loss.

The scene on Market street was beyond all powers of description. There was the most awful mixture of debris, woe and desolation that has ever been known there. From 9th street to 14th not a single house escaped total or partial demolition, while on a block or two east and west of these streets fearful havoc was played by the elements, but not with the uniformity that marked the course of the tornado within the boundaries named.

Dr. Smith and Timm Manager of the city were among those who lost their residences.

With but few exceptions, the people killed and wounded are unknown outside of the city and their names would hardly interest our readers.

Stricken Johnston, remembering how nobly Louisville came to its assistance in its dire extremity, telegraphed $500 to the relief committee.

The scores of Knights of Honor killed and the large number wounded in the destruction of the Falls City Hall where a lodge was in session, will tax the order pretty severely for awhile.

Although the loss of the Union depot falls on him, President Huntington sends $2,000 to the sufferers. Emma Abbott, bless her little soul, sent $1,000.

It was found necessary for the protection of the property in the wrecked houses to place a portion of the city under martial law and the Louisville Legion was promptly ordered on duty by 11:00. Buckner.

It was noted as a remarkable fact that three saloons—one on the southeast corner of 8th, one on the northwest corner and the other on the southwest corner of 10th street—were not injured, while churches and rectories were destroyed. Can the preachers account for this?

Of the 14 tobacco warehouses but three were left standing by the tornado. Nearly every house is a total loss. The warehousemen say that the damage to their stock will be slight unless it rains before the tobacco is re-housed.

Street cars were knocked off the track, and in one instance a car and two mules were lifted from the middle of the street and landed against the wall of a house.

The animals were killed and the car was wrecked, but the driver, John Mahone, was able to step from the platform unimpaired. The Kentucky Unionmen sent $500 to the relief committee.

Gov. Campbell has issued a proclamation to the people of Ohio, setting forth the needs of the tornado sufferers in Louisville and asking contributions of money.

Mr. A. R. McKee, of Danville, was in Wright's cigar store in the same block with the Louisville Hotel and was crushed beyond recognition, save by his letters and papers. In this store and Bar's saloon adjoining nine persons lost their lives. Virgil Wright was seriously wounded. The hotel did not suffer much.

The tornado crashed through Jeffersonville, wrecking houses, from their foundations and destroying $500,000 worth of property, but fortunately nobody was killed.

The tornado cut a swath of devastation clean through the State, entering at Paducah, it nearly wiped out the new town of Grand Rivers, and killed several people. Webster county was right in the path of the terrible wind, and suffered a heavy loss of life and property, at least 30 persons being killed or seriously injured. Crittenden county was swept from west to east, the track of the storm being a quarter of a mile wide and 20 miles long. In Breckinridge many houses were wrecked, but no lives were lost. In Christian and Trigg the loss of life and property was also heavy.

FARM AND TRADE ITEMS.

—W. F. Elkin bought of James Owens a lot of butchers' still at 15c.

—James Swope sold to Johnson, of Boyle, 10 head of 800 pound cattle at 25 cents.

Saturday afternoon is horse show day at Hustonville and the prospects are that there will be lots of good ones there.

Next Monday is horse show day here and the prospects are that more than the usual number of good ones will be on exhibition.

—Tate & Catron have bought the past week about 100 head of cattle at from 25 to 35c; 35 head of yearling steers at $7 to $15.—Somerset Reporter.

In our horse column next issue will be found the pedigree of C. T. Sandridge's Harrison Chief, Jr., an excellent combined stallion and The King, a noted saddle breeder.

Notwithstanding all the discouraging talk which has been indulged in regarding damaged growing wheat, we venture the assertion that the yield will be a great surprise to those who are now creaking the loudest. —W. W. Riffe, Jr., of Lanesville, sold to L. H. Hudson & Co. a nice combined gelding for $215. —Danville Advocate.

—G. W. Lowen sold to Ottenheimer & Bond 50 bushels of potatoes at 25 cents. Bond & Lillard sold to Charles Byrnes of Louisville, 13 head of cattle at 1 cent, and 220 hogs at 3 cents. The cattle are to be delivered the 1st of June and the hogs the 1st of May. —L. E. Wilson sold to Curry & Roe, of Danville, last week, 7 head of long yearling hogs at $17.50. —Lawrenceburg News.

But few tobacco beds have been burned in this county and from the present prospects, the average will be greatly curtailed on account of scarcity of plants. —J. R. Vanvick sold to head of mule colts to J. E. Kennedy and Queens, Louisville, at $20. —Winter Creek.

—J. H. Vance sold to head of mule colts at $7.50 per head. —Nash Vaught sold to head of yearling mules to Mr. Hall, of Wayne, at $82. —Harrodsburg Democrat.

PEOPLE BEFORE THE PUBLIC.

SENATOR GEORGE, of Mississippi, is reported to have made a vow never to wear a dress suit or to ride in a carriage.

London newspapers say that Count Thomas A. Edison is the most interesting American who has ever visited that city.

Miss Bixland, the brave little woman who went around the world at six hours' notice, has been made literary editor of the Cosmopolitan Magazine.

In the late years of his life, shortly before death, Robert Browning had a head that painters loved to study. A great many portraits of him have been made recently.

SENATOR EDWARDS, of Vermont, has served longer in the United States Senate than any of his colleagues. On April 5, 1890, he will have been in the Senate without a single break twenty-four years.

SECRETARY RESK'S fame as a raconteur is making him a mark for the book-makers. One of them called on him not long ago and earnestly besought him to write a book of funny stories. Resk curtly refused.

JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER'S wealth is estimated at $125,000,000. He devotes two hours daily—from seven until nine o'clock in the morning—to the examination of the pile of letters addressed to him soliciting money for various purposes.

LYMAN TREMELL, ex-Governor, ex-Secretary of State, ex-Supreme Judge, ex-member of Congress, and ex-United States Senator, is still practicing law in Chicago at the age of seventy-seven. He is in good health and his legal activity is as strong as ever.

HOTEL "KATYOID."

To My Friends and Patrons Everywhere.

I desire to inform them that just so soon as the sun rises and sets, the Hotel Katyoid will just as certainly be built and will be run this season, if not at Madison, then at my springs one mile east of Crab Orchard, Ky. I will further state that in this matter I have acted in perfect good faith with the public. I have sold off my property, some of it a year ago, in order to take possession of the Hotel at Madison as I contracted on May 1st, and I learn that the ladies the gradings not a lick has been struck on it. It may be that I have been played for a sucker in this business, but unless it is satisfactorily adjusted in the next few days they will find they have caught a whale instead of a sucker, and I will give correspondence to the press from some leading Middle-Western men that will give them and Madison a greater back set than has the recent look up that way.

The press over the State who has provided my friend in the part will please do me the favor to copy the above letter.

[This is no April fool.]
Respectfully, B. G. STANTON.
Green River Springs, Mar. 31.

The Newspaper Pull.

"The newspaper pull," says Bill Nye, "is something that makes men feel bad if they don't get it. The ground-work of an ordinary newspaper pull consists of a moral character and a good bank account. Writing newspaper pulls is like mixing slushy colanders and mint juleps all through the summer months for customers and quenching your own thirst with rain water. Sometimes a man is looking for a pull and doesn't get it, then he says the paper is going down hill and that it is in the hands of a monopoly, and he would stop subscribing if he did not have to pay his bill first. Writing a newspaper pull is like taking the photograph of a homely baby. If the photograph does not represent the child with wings and halos and harps, it shows that the artist does not understand his business. So it is with the newspaper pull—if the pull doesn't stand out like a bold and fearless exponent of the truth and morality, it shows that the puller doesn't understand human nature. It is more fun to see a man read a pull of himself than to see a man slip on an orange peel. The narrow minded man reads it over seven or eight times and then goes around to the different places where the paper is taken and reads what he can. The kind-hearted family man goes home and reads it to his wife and then pays up his bill on the paper. The successful business man who advertises and makes money, starts immediately to find the newspaper man and speak a word of grateful acknowledgment and encouragement. Then the two men start out of the sanctum and walk thoughtfully down the street together, and the successful business man takes sugar in his, and they both eat a clove or two, and life is sweeter and peace settles down like a turtle dove in our hearts, and after a while lamp posts get more plentiful and everybody seems more or less interested, but the hearts of these two men are filled with a nameless joy, because they know just where to stop and not make themselves ridiculous."

Consistent Consumption. —Wm. M. K. The fact that consumption can be cured is daily becoming more and more impressed on the mind of the layman, and the simplest and best methods of fighting this dread malady is the warm milk treatment, and while undergoing it the patient is advised to go on some tonic, where he is sure to get it fresh and where, moreover, he can pass his days in horseback riding. When the cure treatment is undergone, recovery from consumption would not only be possible but would very likely occur, unless the lungs had been too seriously diseased. An outdoor life in pure air, good wholesome food and plenty of it are the surest cures for the malady, and no one of these features is more important than either of the others. —New York Telegram.

The supreme court of Nebraska has decided that a passenger is the guest of the sleeping-car company, as a man is a guest at an inn where he stops, and that he necessarily must take his ordinary wearing apparel with him, and some articles for convenience, comfort and necessity. As the liability of innkeepers is imposed on considerations of public policy as a means of protecting travelers against the negligence and dishonest practices of the innkeeper and his servants, the liability of sleeping-car companies rests on similar considerations.

Heart Palpitation. —Distressing or excessive palpitation of the heart can always be arrested by bending double, the head down and the hands hanging, so as to produce a temporary congestion of the upper portion of the body. In nearly every instance of nervous palpitation the heart immediately resumes its natural function. If the movements of respiration are arrested during this action, the effect is still more rapid.

ANOTHER MURDER IN ROCKCASTLE

Develops a Most Distasteful State of Affairs.

(Special Issue to the Interior Journal.)

The examining trial of James Bardin for the killing of "Aunt" Henderson took place before Judge Colyer at Mt. Vernon Saturday. The case, as brought out at the trial, is without precedent. It showed Henderson to be a most brutal and infernal father and a libertine. The trial was held with closed doors, none being admitted except the officers, witnesses and those directly connected with the affair.

The family affairs of Henderson were most deplorable. The man, or brute, has by threats and intimidation for the last two years had control knowledge with his 20-year old daughter. He has at various times left his family for months at a time and gone off with other women. About 6 weeks since Henderson made an attempt on his 9-year old daughter and when remonstrated with by the mother he knocked her down and threatened to murder her if she said anything about it.

Four weeks ago a sister of Mrs. Henderson came up from Harvard on a visit. Henderson, true to his brutal instincts, attempted to accomplish his design but was repulsed. Mrs. Henderson was told off by her sister, who immediately prepared to depart. Before leaving Mrs. H. told her of her husband's brutality, which upon hearing, the 20-year old daughter started them by telling what relations her unnatural father had forced her to maintain under fear of death. Mrs. H. was prostrated.

They decided to inform their brother, James Bardin, of the awful state of affairs. Upon being told of the matter, Mr. B. was of course dumfounded, but he soon decided what course to pursue. He with two friends mounted their horses and went to Henderson's house where Bardin put four balls in the wretch's body, killing him instantly. Bardin went to Mt. Vernon two weeks afterward, gave himself up and trial set for Saturday, when he was promptly acquitted.

Henderson, it will be remembered, was arrested some years since with Bishop, charged with murdering Mary Sigman, "the scarlet woman of Round Stone," and her mother, in the house where a brother of Bishop and young Hysinger were killed in a row. No positive evidence being adduced at the trial Henderson was released, though there is no doubt he was along when the killing occurred. Henderson's has been a chequered career. He is accused of having burned a number of houses in Rockcastle and having killed Charles Krieger from the roadside some three years ago while on his way to Jackson county to buy walnut trees.

Fooling the Farmers.

The new tariff bill increases the tariff tax on imported corn, and that is called protection to farmers when the Western farmers are burning their corn as fuel, because it won't bear the cost of shipment to market. The farmers who produce corn have some 70,000,000 bushels on their hands for want of buyers at living prices and yet a tax on foreign corn that wouldn't come to this market, if it could be shipped free and admitted free of duty, is called protection to farmers. The new tariff bill increases the tariff on hops on imported wheat, and that is called protection to farmers. Our farmers produce a large surplus of wheat that they must sell abroad or next to give it away at home, and imported wheat for our consumption is practically unknown in this country, but an increased tariff tax on wheat is to be added as increased protection to farmers. The farmers who grow wheat have yet unsold 150,000,000 bushels of last year's crop, being over 25,000,000 in excess of any previous year, and yet the farmer is insulted with the promise of protection by increased tax on wheat that can't be imported even if shipped and admitted free. The new tariff bill increases the tariff tax on hops nearly 100 per cent, and that is called protection to farmers. We produce one-third, about, more hops than we can consume, sell the surplus to Europe, and the price of hops, like the price of wheat, is made in London. We import hops, just as we import Egyptian cotton and Spanish iron ores, simply because we must have them to mix with our home products, and a tariff tax on either is no protection to the home producer, but imposes increased taxes on consumers. And this is called increased protection to farmers. When will the farmers learn to resent this costly mockery of the most important industrial interest of the country? Tariff taxes oppress farmers; tariff taxes never protect farmers to any substantial extent. —Philadelphia Times.

In a recent sale of old books and manuscripts in New York a letter written by Christopher Columbus sold for $2,000. It consisted of 116 lines and 84 words, and very easy words at that were spelled the most convenient way. Mr. Columbus was good at sailing, says the Detroit Free Press, but mighty poor at spelling, though in his day it was just as proper to spell eat with a "k" as in any other way.

The calamity that has just befallen Louisville is awful to contemplate. A tornado which struck the city at 1:30 and 1:40, swept across it in a north-easterly direction leaving death, desolation and destruction in its path which covered about four squares in width. In a moment and without warning hundreds of houses were crushed in shapeless masses, in many instances burying scores of human beings in the debris killing them instantly or reserving them to the more awful death by suffocation and cremation. There have already been taken from the ruins 94 dead bodies but many others are missing and many of the hundreds of injured will die. The blood about freezes in one's veins to think of such a calamity occurring at our very doors and among our neighbors and friends. Though a large number of residences were destroyed, the worst ruin was wrought among the large and substantial houses on Main and Market Streets and hardly a building is left standing on the former from 7th to 13th and a corresponding distance on the latter. Eleven large tobacco warehouses were wrecked and it would take this entire paper to name all who suffered loss of life or property. Dnn & Co's. Commercial Agency estimates the loss at $2,500,000, which since there was no insurance against cyclones, is complete. The sufferers have gone manfully to work and already the recuperative capacity of the enterprising people is being manifested in the resumption of business, where three days ago it was impossible to even walk. Offers of aid come from all parts of the country, but the generous people reply that they are both able and willing to meet every demand at home. A tender sympathy is felt all over the State for the sufferers of our beautiful metropolis which would manifest itself in liberal contributions if it was asked or needed.

A New York school man has found to her sorrow that it won't do to monkey with the average small boy. The other morning Miss Knox had occasion to reprimand Eddy Mullane for some of his tricks, but words having no effect on the little rascal, she called him up and laid him across her knee. She was proceeding to apply her hand where it would do him the most good when suddenly there was an explosion, a cry from Eddy and a shriek from Miss Knox. After the smoke cleared away it is said that a good portion of the boy's breeches was missing, his waist was afire and the school teacher's hand was blackened and burned. The boy had a bomb in his back pocket that the force of Miss Knox's hand exploded and that was the cause of the catastrophe. One of the little girls lent Eddy an apron and he went home for repairs, wearing it on the opposite side usually adopted by the girls. Eddy now takes his meals standing, while the teacher carries her hand in a sling, wearing an I-didn't-know-it-was-loaded kind of an expression.

AMONGS to the statement that over $1,100,000,000 in pensions have been paid by the United States government in the last 30 years, the following startling calculation has been made, which will give some idea of the vast amount that has been and is still being expended to appease the cry that is ever coming up for more from men who think the country owes it to them: It is impossible to count a billion. Had Adam counted continuously from his creation to the present day, he would not have reached that number, for it would take him over 9,512 years. At the rate of 200 a minute, there could be counted 12,000 an hour, 288,000 a day and 105,120,000 a year.

FRIDAY'S Courier-Journal fully demonstrated the wonderful editorial, reportorial and executive capacity of that institution, in which every Kentuckian feels a pride. It was near 9 o'clock on Thursday night when the terrific tornado struck the beautiful city, leaving death and destruction in its wake, and paralyzing with awe and horror those who escaped, yet the next morning's paper had six full pages of graphic and reliable description of the catastrophe covering the entire ground. It was magnificent work, magnificently presented and gave the highest proof of the unlimited resources of our favorite daily.

By a vote of 139 to 127 the House decided to admit Wyoming to Statehood. By the last Federal census this Territory only had 20,789 population, but it is strongly republican and that party recognizes that it will need to make its Senate more solid, since the loss of the House now seems assured. The republicans also approved of the clause in the Wyoming constitution providing for woman suffrage.

Our representative, Mr. Warren, who was in Louisville at the time and saw the fearful destruction wrought by the tornado, offered a resolution next day to appropriate $10,000 for the benefit of the sufferers but a representative from Louisville suggested that it was probable that the city could care for its unfortunates and would not want aid. Thereupon on motion the speaker appointed a committee to go to Louisville and investigate. Mr. Warren being included on the committee. The gentlemen visited the city and found to their lasting credit that their citizens had determined to take care of the sufferers themselves. In this connection the Courier-Journal says: "The people of Louisville are both able and willing to furnish all the means that the Relief Committee requires. No appeal will be made for assistance abroad. Our people hold it both a matter of pride and privilege to relieve the suffering of our own city. No calamity has ever visited us great enough to paralyze our energies or to deaden our sympathies. No cry of distress will be unheeded; no suffering will be passed by. Every means possible to alleviate the miseries of the afflicted will be used. The committee asks simply that it be provided with the necessary funds and these funds will be supplied gladly by our own citizens."

LATER reports show that the tornado was even more destructive than at first thought, all through the Southern part of the State. In Webster, Daviess and Ohio counties the loss of life and property is exceedingly large and the suffering very great. Louisville is taking care of her unfortunates and will continue to do so, but the other stricken localities call loudly for help, which should be furnished them with a liberal hand.

LOUISVILLE'S pluck, energy and charity now being demonstrated are the admiration of the world.

LEGISLATIVE DOINGS.

—The bill to make the playing of omutz a felony passed the House.
—The bill to reduce the salaries of circuit judges to $2,400 failed by a large majority.
—The A. and M. Investigating Committee has reported that it finds no reasonable ground for the charges made against that institution.
—The House passed the bill regulating the annual allowance to pauper idiots of $75 for each idiot, of which the State shall pay $55 and the county $20.
—The House adjourned Saturday till Tuesday and the Senate till Wednesday, to enable the members to go home and see if their sections were damaged by the cyclone.
—The House voted to continue the Superior Court, 51 to 20. Of course, no legislature has ever abolished an office of consequence. Its tendency is always to make more.
—A bill was passed incorporating the Louisville and Danville Railroad Company, with M. J. Durham, Charles Schiff, C. H. Rodes, C. B. Simral and Alfred Mack as incorporators.
—Mr. Tomlinson is after the Eddyville penitentiary commission. He has offered a resolution calling upon the auditor for a statement showing the amount of money paid as mileage and expenses to them since their terms commenced May 1, 1880. The resolution was adopted.

NEWS CONDENSED

—Gallatin, Tenn., also suffered severely from the tornado. Several persons were killed.

—Phil B. Thompson, Sr., and Curtis F. Burnam are announced for members of the constitutional convention from their respective counties, Mercer and Madison.

—Father Boyle, the North Carolina priest, who was sentenced to die for raising a little girl, was acquitted Saturday on his second trial, which was granted him on appeal.

—The City of Paris, known as the greyhound of the ocean, broke her machinery on the last outward trip, and after floating around for several days, was at last towed into the English port.

—The Senate passed the bill authorizing the Secretary of War to purchase 2,500 tents for use of flood sufferers in Arkansas, Mississippi and Louisiana and appropriated $25,000 for the purpose.

—Sergeant Dunn, of the Signal Service predicts that there will be a rise in the Mississippi that will be in the nature of a tidal wave, which will sweep everything before it. The flood will reach Cairo in two or three days, but will not get to New Orleans for three weeks and that city will be completely wiped out. Gen. Greeley on hearing this said Dunn talked too much with his mouth and ordered him to cease making sensational statements.

—Gov. Buckner has appointed Maj. R. C. Davis to be the successor of Judge Jackson.

—At St. Louis a fall of more than six inches of snow is reported and at Syracuse Lake, N. Y., it has been snowing since Friday, 15 inches having fallen.

—The flood situation in the lower Mississippi valley is alarming. The waters are everywhere and thousands of people are fleeing for their lives. There is great suffering and starvation will follow unless relief reaches them quickly.

—Miss Frances E. Willard, president of the World's Woman's Christian Temperance Union, has issued an appeal for aid in the campaign in Nebraska, which has for its object the adoption, next November, of the proposed prohibition amendment to the State constitution.

—The Louisville Southern is being operated under the old management, or rather the original management. The changes were made after the owners had determined that Breyfogle with his wrecking policy should not devastate their property. It was accomplished by cutting all connections with the Monon and taking up the tracks. Col. Bennett H. Young is credited with having engineered the scheme.

MATRIMONIAL MATTERS.

—Samuel Pitman and Miss Sallie Singleton, sweet 16, obtained license yesterday to wed April 3. Both parties live at Waynesburg.
—The marriage of Miss Margaret Blaine, daughter of the Secretary of State, and Walter Danrosch, of New York City, will take place April 17.

—E. M. Clarkson, aged about 40, and Miss Lillie Moore, aged about 15, both of Junction City, were married in the clerk's office in Danville last Thursday by Judge George F. Lee. This is the groom's third matrimonial venture.

—J. F. & B. G. Gover bought of J. M. Skidold 33 acres of land adjoining them, near Turnersville, at $50 and sold him 2 houses and lots at Rowland for $1,100.

Two young men, while hunting near Eldred, Sullivan county, N. Y., report having had a terrible struggle with a wild cat. They surprised the cat while devouring birds it had caught. The cat, on seeing the hunters, at once sprang at the nearest, but was beaten off only to renew the attack more ferociously than before, biting and clawing viciously. After tearing off the coat and vest and lacerating the shoulder of the foremost hunter, the cat was knocked senseless by a well directed blow of the butt of a gunstock and finally killed. It measured four feet two inches in length.

FOR SALE BUSINESS PROPERTY.

The office of police judge has been most acceptably filled by Judge W. H. Carson, who is a candidate for re-election. He will likely have no opposition.

A Danville correspondent worked the Cincinnati Enquirer with a dispatch telling about the suicide of John Wilmore after killing all his family and the murder of his old aunt by James Austin. Both happened a half dozen years ago.

Barrow's Pond is now open and will be till May 1st for the use of those fishermen who will conduct themselves in a gentlemanly manner. We are requested to say by Mrs. Barrow, who takes pride in following the established custom of her late lamented husband.

Greenley's prediction of severe storms high winds and heavy rains was verified with terrible reality. The storm raged nearly all night here Thursday, with thunder and lightning accompaniment, but fortunately the winds had spent the fury of their force and no especial damage was done.

The attention of the traveling public is called to the notice of the Commercial Hotel, Harrodsburg, which appears in another column. Mr. J. B. Owens is manager, which is a guarantee that it will be kept in first-class style. He made a reputation as a fine hotel keeper when he ran the Myers House, which he intends fully to sustain.

Prohibition Meeting.—The prohibitionists of Lincoln county are requested to meet in convention at Stanford court-house Saturday, April 12, at 1 o'clock p. m. The selection of delegates to our State convention, nomination of county candidates and other important business is before us. Let there be a full attendance. John O. Neal, Chairman.

While Mr. A. A. McKinney was driving one of Weed Smith's fiery steeds Sunday afternoon he met with an unpleasant disaster. He was paying his toll at the gate on the Hustonville pike and not giving attention to him, Mr. Coleman let the poll down across the huggy top. At that moment the horse started, tearing the top to pieces and barely escaping Mr. McKinney's head.

The ladies are cordially invited to examine our stock of spring millinery. It surpasses any line ever brought here. All our prices are very reasonable. Courts & Wray, in rear of post-office.

This is All Fools' Day. We hope it inaugurates a month that will be an improvement on the last, for March came in like a lion, acted like a lion all thro' and went out like the terrible beast it represented.

There were rumors of a mob to hang Toy Teeters Sunday night, but none came and none is likely to tackle Sam Owens, who is sworn to protect his prisoners. Give the courts a chance and if justice is not meted out, it will be time enough then for Judge Lynch to take a hand.

Norman, further has been heard of the fellow Myers, who tried to create such a sensation here in order to rid himself of a marriage contract he did not want to fulfill. Mr. J. H. Bright recognizes the picture of Myers as the man who passed his will on the 29th of March. He says he had on a black felt hat, with narrow brim when he saw him, but when Mr. J. C. Ferguson, who also recognizes the photograph, saw him he had on a broad-brim white hat. His little scheme has fallen very late here, where the facts are known.

Judge Morrow says we were in error in stating that the negro, George Farris, who had been in jail for contempt since the October term of the court, had probably been overlooked. On the contrary, he says that at that time he gave the man four separate chances to testify before the grand-jury, the last time just before its adjournment, and still refusing he ordered him to jail, where he would have been kept till the end of the judge's official term and then turned over to his successor if he hadn't decided to mulliber his jaw.

Nor Hen.—The family of Miss Minnie Straub were in great surprise till Sunday fearing that she had been killed by the big tornado at Louisville. She was in the city learning the millinery business and the name of Minnie Straub appearing among the killed on a street near where Miss Minnie is staying lead her folks to believe it was her. Peter Straub, Jr., was dispatched to the city, but the wires being down nothing could be heard until the arrival of Saturday night's express, with the news that she was safe. Miss Minnie is the excellent organist at the Methodist church, which holds her in high esteem and which joins her family in joy over her being spared the awful fate.

No Kix to Our Owsleys.—A dispatch in Sunday's Courier-Journal from St. Joe, Mo., states that John Owsley, a brother of the late Gov. Owsley, of Kentucky, had been sentenced there to five years in the penitentiary, for burglary, in which his two daughters, whom he had trained in crime, were implicated. Believing that there was a lie out, and in justice to a large and influential family hereabouts, we asked Hon. John Sam Owsley about it. "The story is preposterous. My uncle, William Owsley, who was governor, had six brothers and all of them have been dead for years. The one was named John, but he never married. He died more than 60 years ago. The youngest of the family would now be 100 years of age if living. Judge Mike Owsley has a brother John, but he lives near Nashville and is a wealthy and respected citizen."

Circuit Court.—The case against W. C. Barnett for resisting officer resulted in a verdict of a fine of $25. Jas. Banks, colored, for shooting Will King, was also let off with a fine of $50. The grand-jury finally adjourned Friday, after a session of only four days and with but 10 indictments returned. This is the shortest time and the smallest number of indictments in this county in the recollection of the oldest inhabitant and is a pretty fair indication of the law-abiding condition of our people. The indictments are for minor offenses, only one being for grand larceny, one for petit larceny, 3 for carrying concealed weapons, 4 for assault and battery and one for keeping disorderly house. Before adjourning the jury handed the following report to his honor, Judge Morrow:

We find that the wall of the Court-House facing on Lancaster street, to be considerably sprung, and in our opinion unsafe, the cornice in bad condition and the plastering in circuit and county court-rooms badly in need of repair. We find the back door to hall of Court-House broken down and lock to county court-room useless. We find the wood work of the jailer's residence in need of paint and sash to windows in bad condition and fencing around said residence out of repair.

J. T. Rose, Foreman.

MURDER.—WILL ALLEN BAUGH KILLED BY TOY TEETERS.—Macksville, our unsavory suburb, was the scene Saturday night of a most willful and unprovoked murder, such as calls aloud for the swift and direct punishment. Will Allen Baugh, son of George Baugh, of Highland, a young man of 21, was shot dead in his tracks by Toy Teeters, a negro, who has frequently been in trouble here. It seems that Baugh was on his way to Henry Hester's to collect a debt of $100 and stopped in town en route. He put his horse up at Menefee's stable and then started on a lark. He went to Macksville and sending for Ellen Jones, colored, offered her 20 cents to go with him. She refused and he drew his pistol and threatened to shoot her. Telling him to wait till she came back, the girl went into the house and when she returned the man was gone. Later he got with John Anderson, a son of Silas Anderson, and meeting Taylor Lackey on Depot street asked him to go into Anderson's and have some beer. He did so and both men treated him. Anderson then asked Lackey about the woman and they all went up to Macksville. Toy Teeters went to Ellen Jones to wake her up and Taylor to Birdie Stigall's. They were both aroused with some difficulty and went to where the white men were. When Ellen saw the man who had drawn the pistol on her, so she swore before the coroner's jury, she charged him with it and said she was afraid to go with him. He called her a d—n liar and put his hand in his pocket. At this instant Toy Teeters stepped up and said, "You don't mean to call me a liar, do you?" and before the man could answer, drew his pistol and shot him in the face. He fell and she ran home. Birdie Stigall's testimony was substantially the same and so was Taylor Lackey's, all of them identifying the corpse as the man killed and being confident that he was shot before he could respond to Teeters.

Dr. J. G. Carpenter, who made the post mortem examination, testified that the man came to his death from the pistol shot. The ball entered the left cheek, fracturing the ramus of the lower jaw, also the petrous portion of the temporal bone at the base of the brain. He was unable to trace it further. Face was powder-burnt. The ball was about 38 calibre. He had never seen the man before. Dr. D. L. Fry, who assisted in the examination, corroborated the above. Mr. D. R. Carpenter testified that he knew the deceased to be Will Allen Baugh. Judge Varnon, who held the inquest, in the absence of the coroner, then gave the case to the jury, which returned the following verdict:

We find that the deceased came to his death by a pistol shot fired by Toy Teeters on the night of March 29, 1890. Signed, W. P. Walton, B. G. Alford, A. G. Huffman, J. W. Ramsey, W. M. Higgins, G. T. McRoberts.

The judge then ordered the prisoner to jail, but before he went a reporter for this paper asked him if he had anything to say.

"I KILLED HIM," said he; "he called me a d—n liar and put his hand in his pocket, so I jerked my pistol out of my overcoat and let him have it." He didn't seem to be in the least agitated or concerned about it. The singular part of the matter is that he was the first to report the case to Marshal Newlund. He took him to the body, assisted in taking it to the Court-House and then sat up with it the rest of the night, showing no signs of remorse or fear. With his usual intuition, the marshal suspected Teeters from the first and by 9 o'clock next morning had worked up a case against him that couldn't be controverted.

The marshal found on the dead man's body a six-shooter, a dirk and a half filled bottle of whisky just made. There were only 2 cents in his pocket, the 20 cents that he had offered the Jones girl in the early part of the night having been paid to Mr. Menefee's stable man, with whom he left a note to Mr. Menefee stating that he would pay the balance of the bill—20 cents, soon.

Immediately after the shooting Anderson took French leave and awoke all the people on lower Main as he dashed homeward. He was evidently scared almost to death, expecting his time to come next. He didn't stop running till next day.

The murderer, Teeters, has been before the courts frequently, but of late had been behaving himself fairly well. When he was a little boy Allen Collier got enraged at him and struck him a blow on the head, crushing his skull, which necessitated the operation known as trepanning. For a long time he hovered between life and death, but unfortunately he recovered, though the old negro man who gave the murderous blow never returned after skipping when he thought he had killed him. We presume Judge Morrow will convene a special grand-jury to consider the case and order the trial during the present term of the court. The prospects for a hanging in the near future are therefore assured, unless the negro's friend can prove that his mind was affected by the crushing of his skull, which is hardly probable. We learn that the deceased was a good-hearted, clever fellow, somewhat given to drink, but was never known to get into rows. He was a favorite with his mother, whose agony can be imagined, as she saw his dead body brought back in less than 24 hours after he had left her full of health and life. Bad women and wine have been the undoing of many a man and wrecked homes and caused innocent hearts to bleed. Let him who reads these lines steer clear of both, for in the end there is naught save misery, shame and death.

A collection for the benefit of the tornado sufferers was taken at the Presbyterian church Sunday when only $21 was secured.

The prohibitionists are not dead neither are they sleeping. At least Chairman O'Neal evidently thinks that if there is a corpse at all it is a very lively one. See his call elsewhere.

Look Out For Them.—The wide-awake dry goods firm of A. B. Robertson & Bro., Danville, are going to spread themselves all over our next issue, which will be enlarged to accommodate them.

A heavy snow fell Sunday, but it melted nearly as fast as it fell. It began to rain afterwards and was at it last evening, after continuing all night and day. Owing to the disordered condition of the wires we haven't had a weather dispatch since Thursday.

A reporter for this paper visited Louisville Sunday and found that even the graphic newspaper descriptions of the ruin wrought by the tornado gave but a faint idea of the desolation and destruction that can be seen on every hand.

RAILROAD MEETING.—We are requested to invite everybody whether interested in the proposed railroad or not, to come to the meeting to be held at the Court-House next Monday, county court day, at 1 o'clock. The road will prove of incalculable benefit to the people of this section and they must strike now and obtain it.

The storm unroofed only one house in this county that we have heard of—that of a Mr. Moberly, near McKinney. Up in Laurel county considerable damage was done to buildings and immense quantities of timber were blown down. The residence of Robert Early and every outbuilding on his place were totally destroyed. The roof was lifted off the residence of Madison Wells and carried fully half a mile.

STOLE A SUIT OF CLOTHES.—Will McCormack, a young man of about 22, was arrested at Junction City by Town Marshal Wells and taken to Lebanon, where he is charged with stealing a suit of clothes and about $17. He was wearing the clothes when arrested and confessed his guilt. About $11 of the money was found on his person. Being unable to furnish bail in the sum of $20 he was sent to jail to await circuit court.

The election for city councilmen will occur next Saturday. We understand that the old board, with the exception of Mr. W. H. Miller, who has his eye on other flesh pots of office, will be placed on the books for re-election. It consists of E. H. Burnside, D. W. Vandever, J. M. Bruce, J. G. Carpenter, J. W. Hayden and A. T. Sannelley. These gentlemen are all fully identified with the interests of the town and have served it during their occupancy of the office faithfully and well. The position of councilman is at best a thankless and undesirable one, and while the board has labored under many difficulties, it has weathered the storm and in all cases acted as they thought best for the town. If they are willing to accept re-election the people certainly owe them the compliment of an endorsement. In the place of Mr. Miller it is understood that the name of Mr. A. A. McKinney will be offered. He is a business man, has much interest at stake and would be sure to make a capital councilman.
